Attached, please find the Office of the Inspector General's overview of how the investigative practices, use of force related policies, and training of the Los Angeles Police Department have evolved during the last decade.

In November 2015, the Board of Police Commissioners directed the OIG to prepare this overview, which is intended to inform discussions regarding enhancements to current use of force-related practices and policy.

The report also includes a series of recommendations, formulated by Commissioners Matthew Johnson and Robert Saltzman, for the consideration of the full Board.

This report will be heard in open session at tomorrow morning's regular meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners.

Thank you for your interest in the OIG.

Best,

Julie Buchwald

Community Relations Coordinator, Office of the Inspector General
